BIOGRAPHY

I received my PhD from the University of Toronto. I am an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Nursing, University of Alberta. My research program focuses on policies and practices shaping migrants health. I have been involved in around 60 funded research projects. I am the lead on 20 of these projects with funding from national and international agencies. I have lead research projects on African immigrant child health, immigrant mental health, access to healthcare for immigrant children, African immigrant youth mental health, migration of nurses as live-in caregivers, experience of temporary foreign workers in Alberta, downward occupational mobility of immigrant nurses and parenting practices of African immigrants. My methodological and theoretical expertise include community based participatory action research, case study, critical ethnography, intersectionality, postcolonial feminism and transnational feminism. I have around 70 published scholarly articles in peer reviewed journals (with another 10 under review), 2 book chapters, and 8 reports. I am on the editorial board of Nursing Inquiry and Qualitative Health Research Journal. I have provided consultations to local, provincial and national policy makers. I represent the University of Alberta on the steering committee of the Worldwide Universities Network Global Africa Group. I founded and lead the African Child and Youth Migration Network of 30 scholars from 4 continent. In 2020, I founded the Black Youth Mentorship and Leadership Program at the University of Alberta. I am involved in several community volunteer initiatives including serving as a public member on the Council of the Alberta College of Social Worker, the Public Health Agency of Canada Working Group on the Mental Health of Black Canadian, the Bell Lets Talk Funding advisory committee, and Board of the Black Opportunities Fund. I have a solid track record of training students. I have trained over 40 students, many of whom have received awards, including the Canadian Vanier Award and the International Development Research Center Doctoral Award. I have received several awards for research excellence and community engagement: 100 Accomplished Black Women in Canada; Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing Emerging Nurse Researcher of the Year Award; College and Association of Registered Nurses of Alberta (CARNA) Award for Nursing Excellence; and Alberta Avenue Edmonton Top 40 under 40. In 2020, I received the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society International Nurse Researcher Hall of Fame, the highest research award in nursing.
